The 2020 Ford Edge is a compelling midsize SUV that offers a touch of luxury without breaking the bank. Its sedan-like driving dynamics, quiet cabin, and expansive passenger and cargo space make it stand out in its class.

Equipped with advanced driver safety aids and a robust list of standard features, even the base model of the Edge delivers excellent value. The turbocharged four-cylinder engine provides commendable power and respectable fuel economy.

The standard Sync 3 infotainment system, featuring intuitive controls and voice commands, enhances the driving experience. While the removal of the CD player may be disappointing, the inclusion of Apple CarPlay and Android Auto compensates for it.

Although there are other options like the GMC Acadia, Kia Sorento, and recently redesigned Hyundai Santa Fe, the Edge's roomy interior, fuel efficiency, and enjoyable driving character make it a worthy choice.

In the midsize, two-row crossover segment, the aging Ford Edge remains a strong contender. Its quiet cabin, comfortable seating, and abundance of standard features distinguish it as the best five-seat offering in Ford's SUV lineup. The choice between the fuel-efficient turbocharged four-cylinder and the powerful Edge ST with its class-leading twin-turbo V-6 gives customers options to suit their preferences. The Edge also comes equipped with Ford's Co-Pilot360 suite of driver-assistant features, including blind-spot monitoring and lane-keeping assist.
